

Americans! These are dark and troublous times—but there is a brighter day coming—a day in which he victory of American principles over demagnesism and tyranny shall be proclaimed to the vorid—a day whose dawning shall usher in the reign of peace, good government, law and order.

No "Bloody Mondays" will distarb the repose and prespectly of that peaceful reign, for Americans will rule America. The spirit of lawlessness and crime which now pervades our city and counemi will rule America. The spirit of lawlesquess and crime which now pervades our city and country, will be banished to its native shores, Americans will dwell together in unity, and the great God of our fathers, whose right arm sustained them in disaster and defeat, and will sustain us, their descendants, and lead us to a sure and permanent victory—will uphold and defend us.

Americans! stand firm! Be true to yourselves. The principles you profess are the principles of the men of Seventy-Six. The machinations of your enemies have been overruled for good—their wrath will be restrained. That which was intended for your destruction and annihilation, has recoiled upon themselves. Their "vaulting ambition has on themselves. Their "vaulting ambition has caped itself."

The Ruler of the Universe has committed your cestiny, your country's future prosperity and the applinese of your children to your care. Will on prove recreant to the trust? Accurred be the life and memory of that ma he would counsel aught save a firm, unalterable corruptible attachment to the American cause. If there be those among us—Arnold's in nature, if not in name—any who can be bought or bribed—who, in imitation of their Tory ancestors, would be tray the cause of freedom'and fight against the perpetuation of that Ilberty which our fore-fathers won for its and our children,— who, like Judsa would kiss but to betray—cast them out— Judas, would kiss but to betray—cast them out—let them go to their "own place."

Americans, it is good to assemble ourselves together. Come, then, and we will talk about that happy time, when

"Americans shall rule America."

TREASURY DEPARTMENT,

Second Comptroller's Office, Sept. 30, 1857.

Sin: We have learned with regret that you will peobably vacate the position now held by you as head of this office; and having been associated therein with you in various relations, some of us for many years, we take this mode of expressing to you our esteem and confidence, and the regret we feel at the dissolution of our official counexion. At your hands we have ever experienced the courtesy of a gentleman. Kindness to those under your courted and a just sense of public duty have characterized all your acts; and in parting with you we feel deeply the severance of those pleasant ties that have bound us together.

In your future career we sincerely hope that you may enjoy unalloyed happiness and prosperity.

Respectfully, your obedient servants,

Although I did not need a written testimon Although I did not need a written testimonial to assure me that I possessed your friendship and respect, yet this grateful expression of your regard is very gratifying to my feelings. We have now been intimately associated for several years in the public service, and during the whole time not even an unpleasant word has marred the harmony of our intercourse. I have borne willing testimony to your ability and zent in the discharge of your duties; and for the control of the condition in which I leave this office, as the story and reputation I may have acquired in the midebted greatly to your intelligence and fidelity. Most cordially do I reciprocate your kindness and esteem, and my official and personal association with you will always be suggestive to me of pleasant recollections.

Wishing you, one and all, a prosperous and happy future, I bid you farewell, and I am, gentlemen, sincerely yours,

J. M. BRODHEAD.

So we go. There is a vast difference between before and after.

If men know before, what was to follow after an election—the result might be materially changed. We believe, and have good reasons for our belief—that if the ingratitude of the administration towards a faithful officer and influential citizen of his State, had been suspected—the State of Pennsylvania would have been lost to Mr. Buchanan!

Mone Rowdynss.—On Thursday night last, the Seventh Ward, in the immediate vicinity of Four-and-a-half and D streets, was the scene of a Seventh Ward, in the immediate vicinity of Four-and-a-half and D streets, was the scene of a series of rascalities perpetrated by a gang of fifteen of our "city regulators," who commenced about 11 o'clock to announce their presence by firing pistels and making diabolical noises, to the alarm of the citizens living thereabouts. Not content with disturbing the rest of the citizens, they proceeded to the apothecary shop of Mr. Fill and threw large atones through the windows, which, lodging among the glass bottles and show cases, caused no little damage. They then proceeded across to the opposite corner, where they tore down the large new sign of Mr. B. F. Clarke, wood merchant, and split it into fragments. These acts of vandalism committed, they went to the house of a respectable family living near by, where a marriage had taken place during the evening, and attempted to force an entrance, and were only frightened off by the representation by the lady of the house that the family were sick with a contagious disease. After creating a great disturbance here, they assaulted a hack driver and caused his horses to run away, doing considerable damage.—Ster of Saturday.

upon the ground that he could not live upon $6,000 a year.

"The salary attached to the office," he says, "is utterly inadequate to afford a comfortable home for my family at Washington, while in attendance on the Court there, and to pay my other necessary expenses. There has not been one year since I was in office that I have not expended my entire private income, and some years I have exceeded it; and certainly you will agree that at Washington I have not lived extravagantly. Indeed, I have lived in such a way as neither my family nor myself have ever been accustomed to; and, I must be allowed to think, in such a way as is not consistent with the dignity of the office I have beld."

This is rather appalling intelligence to those in Washington who have to live, somehow, on a dollar a day or less.

This doomed city is now in the hands of the general and municipal government, which are the simon pure Democracy; and we aver, and are prepared to prove, that mob law reigns triumphantly; that life is no longer safe upon certain portions of Pennsylvania avenue, after nightfall, and that some of our city authorities are in collusion with the veriest set of rowdies, villains, thieves, and cut-throats that ever disgraced humanity.

We understand that a pamphlet is now in course of preparation, giving the names of men in this city who are held in high estimation by the citizens of the Metropolis, who for the last few years have been guilty of enormities which would disgrace the veriest seoundrels on the face of the earth. The perpetrators of this wickedness (many of them) occupy official positions under the general and municipal governments.

Bunglary.—On Sunday night, Mr. Alva Denham, residing on F street north, near Thirteenth, discovered a colored man in his house, concealed. He tried to arrest him, but the fellow escaped to the street, and began an stack upon the house with stones, and assaulted various individuals on the atreets. The guards on the adjoining beats went to arrest him, and a desperate fight ensued. The fellow was a powerful man, well known for his desperate character; and, hiding himself behind boxes and trees, when the officers approached him he would knock them down with stones. Three of the Auxiliary Guards were badly hurt by him—Messrs. Hempler, Carrico, and Bird. It is probable that he would not have been taken but for a shot which took effect in the fellow's leg. He was taken to the guard house, and gave his name as Joe Jenkins, and was sent to jail for the burglarious act at Mr. Denham's and for his desperate resistance of the officers.

ROBBERY AND ARREST.—About 8 o'clock Friday night James Williamson and James McCuen were arrested in the Sixth Ward by officers Vermillion, Plumsill and Little, for stealing a money-drawer and its contents, from the counter of James Cross. They were taken before Justice Cull, of the Sixth District, and committed to the county jail.

"Swampoodle."—On Saturday night a number of disorderly and rowdy individuals assembled in the neighborhood of the big printing office with the evident intention of getting up a fight. They were armed and ready for the fray. Several of the parties were discovered by the police, though no arrests were made.

Seventh Ward.—Our subscribers in the Seventh Ward will please bear in mind that when the agent calls upon them for the money for the "American," he sets apart that day for that especial work, and they will confer a favor on him and upon us by having the money ready for him.

We learn that at a meeting of the Perseverance Fire Company beld on Monday evening last, the company resolved to confine its services for the present to the following district: north of the canal along Tenth street to boundary of the city; along the line of Sixth to G; along G to New Jersey avenue to the northern boundary.

This step is taken, we understand, in view of the riotous demonstrations which have of late taken place, and from a desire, on the part of the company, to keep clear of all disturbances with other companies, so far as may be in their power We noticed yesterday the flag of the Persever-

We understand that he, some fifteen years ago, presented to the Company a large size picture, painted by his own hand representing Washington, life size, at the battle of Brandywine, September 11th, 1777, which came near being destroyed at the time of the burning of their house two years ago, but was saved, and is still in the possession of the Company, and will be more highly prized than ever before, now that the

THE LATE GEORGE W. PARKE CUSTIS. - The death THE LATE GRORGE W. PARKE CUSTIS.—The death of the venerable George Washington Parke Custis, of Arlington, and the last of the members of the family of Gen. Washington, took place on Saturday last. For several years he had stood alone in his relations to the Father of his Country, ever anxious, with filial reverence and affection, to illustrate his character, and from the rich stores of his neverfailing memory to bring forward an annual tribute to his immortal worth. Known and honored by his fellow countrymen, his departure will awaken unit. fellow-countrymen, his departure will awaken uni-versally a profound ægret.

The Corporation has $500 to its credit in the Bank of Washington! In the Board of Aldermen, on Monday, twenty-seven hundred dollars were appropriated to pay deficiency in appropriation for grading and gravelling K stree; north, First Ward. The original appropriation was $1,500—making the sum total of $4,200. Twenty-seven hundred dollars worth of the work was done without any appropriation. Verily, the people of the First Ward can say with Shakspeare, "The work goes bravely on."

Per contra.—One thousand dollars was appropriated for grading and gravelling N straet south, from canal to Potomac. When the $1,000 was expended the work was stopped, leaving the from canal to Potomac. When the $1,000 was expended the work was stopped, leaving the street worse than in the beginning, until a further appropriation was granted. Why is it that the First Ward can have work done to the tune of $2,700, without appropriation, and the Fifth and Seventh could not? It has been a long time since the Seventh Ward gave Washington a mayor. But—never mind!

The Secretary of the Treasury does not anticipate that the revenue for the fiscal year ending the 30th of June next will amount to more than thirty millions, from present appearances. This will not be a subject of regret to the Administration, as an empty treasury will be a strong argument in favor of economical legislation.—Ex.

Droll Amusement.—The ladies of New Zealand according to an English Missionary, have a way of their own to divert themselves: The chief amusement of the people was, and still is, the tangs, or crying. The ladies pride themselves on their doing this in the most affecting way, so that a stranger would be deceived, and not think it possible that it could be a mere mockery of woe, and yet it is nothing more; tears are shed in abundance, and the hands are wrung, as if suffering the most poignant grief, whilst the beart-rending cries excite the sympathy of the company. The ladies have their heads adorned with fillets of leaves, or of dog's hair, and so much joy do they experience in this exciting amusement, that they look forward to good crying with the same desire a young lady in England does a dance or ball.

The Butcheries in India.—The English press continues to give the most heart-rending details concerning the state of Affairs in India, and of the most horrible outrages perpetrated by the native insurgents. The following is an extract from an officer's letter:

At Segowlie, the 12th irregular cavalry mutinied. They shot their commmanding officer, his wife and child, and burnt alive their doctor, with his wife and child, in their own bungalow. At Futtyghur, the wife and child of Mr. Tucker being about to fall into the hands of another rebellious set, she called to her husband to shoot her at once. He did so, his child also, and then himself. A Major Robertson also shot his wife and children and himself, under similar circumstances.

Another letter from Delhi says:

At Delhi the diabolical cruelty of the Sepoys is horrible to relate. They paraded all the European heads up and down the city in a cart; and at Allahabad the 6th native infantry, who had received praise in the morning for their loyalty to government, fell on their officers in the evening while they were at mess, and killed seventeen of them. The adjutant of the regiment they nailed to an arm rack, and made a target of his body; another officer was pinioned to the ground with bayonets, and a fire lit on his body. At another station there was one officer and his wife; he killed seven of the miscreants with his own hand, and when he saw there was no chance for himself or his wife, he shot her and then himself, before he would let her fall into the hands of the Sepoys, because he was well aware what her fate would be—rape and then murder.

The Fort Snelling Swindle.

When the act of 3d March, 1887, under which the sale was made, was being discussed, it was expressly declared that the sale should be open to free competition, and there can be no question but that Congress gave its assent under the belief that such would be the case. This view of the matter is further strengthened by the fact, that the fourth section of the act extends the act of 3d March, 1819, to cases of this character; and we besitate is further strengthened by the fact, that the fourth section of the act extends the act of 3d March, 1819, to cases of this character; and we hesitate not to say, that no such sale was ever made before under that act of 1819, and we challenge the Union to a refutation of this statement by facts.

It will be remembered by our citizena, that when the Government undertook to sell the military reservation at Fort Dearborn, in this city, plats of the lands were prepared, full public notice given, and soaled bids were required, to prevent combinations to keep down the price. Will the Union please advise us why this safe and salutary precedent was not adopted in selling the lands at Fort Snelling, which are much more valuable than were those in the Fort Dearborn reservation, when they were disposed of? By such an arrangement, all who desired to purchase any of those lands could have had an opportunity to do so, and to secure as much as they had money to pry for, but then favorities would not have been rewarded.

After this magnificent transaction, let all former swindles sink into oblivion, but let the people of the United States awake to their danger before it is too late. We knew that the Government at Washington had become corrupt, but we had no idea that matters had gone so far that they were lost to all sense of shame, or so hardened in iniquity that they would thus defy public opinion. Let the people awake, we say, and sift this matter through their representatives to the bottom.

PROSPECTUS

THIRTY-FIVE YEARS' "TRAMPS;"

"BIG BEN," A Journeyman Shoemaker PROPOSE TO GIVE AN ACCOUNT OF MY
"TRAMPS" in different States, with the scenes, characters, incidents, events, sprees, and adventures, with which I have met, or in which I have participated, including one year spent at sea and three pated, including one year spent at sea and three years in the United States Army, in war service. I have had vicissitudes and troubles enough to try any man's soul, and almost ruin his understanding; and now that I am waxing old, and my thread of life is nearly spun out, I take this method of trying to get something that will make all my latter days last in comfort to the end.

My "Tramps" will form a neat volume of one hundred pages, at least, which will be furnished to subscribers hereto at fifty cents, and will be issued as soon as the subscriptions will justify.

My old shop-mates, members of the craft, and others, I trust, will "occasion" for me by subscribing to this. Friends to whom this prospectus is sent are requested to procure subscribers and forward their names to
